

ARCH ANGEL DATING SIMULATOR

The divine hosts have incarnated. They're also slightly not used to being so bodied and are slightly lost. They have this magnetic gravity and seem to be out of it.

Would you so kindly, hmm. Date them?

You have karma to unravel! And boy is your penance looking bad/great/good. In a series of unfortunate dates and happenstance you will:

- ☑ Meet this Karmic Emanation of An Arch Angel
- ☑ Conveniently be the source and solution to each other's problems
- ☑ Complicate your Sh*t
- ☑ And part ways(?)

Cheers,

Your Soul Investigator

HOW TO LOVE LOVE (or an emanation of the divine)

Here's your contract.

There, on the fine print. It said you'll help learn lessons for new beings as long as it would be in the vehicle of the relationship.

Yea, I know, I know. *taps desk

You're human, they'll be human, it's gonna get Real. Pick an Arch Angel (AA) and we'll get you through some questions, make sure you guys push and pull the best and worst out of each other. Use each question as a spring board to keep pushing the story in one way or another You're gonna like it. It's gonna be fun dating an angel.

Have a friend(s) alternately narrate but you could also mend and unmend that heart of yours yourself. Play for about 1-2 hours or more. Get specific, go novel length series if you like and pick a good tarot/oracle/art deck to go alongside you. Take breaks when needed, and more importantly have fun.

NOTE: this is an LGBTQA+ friendly space. Let these stories be about you loving through love in love.

HOW TO READ LOVE

(or how to allow spirit to tell this story with you)

This story-game has an Intuitive Storytelling element through a tarot/oracle/art deck. While it may feel like you don't know how to that - well. They're just prompts, look at the card and tell the story you want to tell, and that naturally emerges.

You can!! refer to websites like learntarot.com..

But how about trying these out first:

- 01 Begin with a deck that you really like, with art you like and dances with your imagination
- 02 Look at that evocative imagery and ask any:
 - What do I feel is going on in this image?
 - If I could speak to anyone or anything in this card, what would they say? What would they sound like?
 - What symbols call out to me? What do I immediately associate them with?
 - If I treat this card like a still image from a scene, what do I feel happened just before this image? What will happen after?
 - When I pull a new card, how do I feel it complements or contradicts a previous card? What is the hidden story between the cards?
 - What archetypes am I reminded of? What stories come to mind, what characters? How can this inspire my answer?

You'll take turns drawing cards to answer specific questions. When pulling a card, you can ask each other follow up questions helping fish more story out from the veins.

PRO-TIP: If you can't think of anything look at the card, just start talking. It connects somehow.

*these guide questions is fundamentally written by Jamila Nedjani of Sword Queen Games.

HOW ANGELS LOVE

(probably like you)

The story you make, may go anywhere. It doesn't matter if you've dated or not, fallen in love or not. Feel free to explore themes with your whole rolodex of favorite dating sims, observations-of-friends and K-dramas.

Here's some fun stuff that you could additionally explore in-story:

- They may have small mundane supernatural powers. Fiddling with electrical currents, dream premonitions and so on
- They may know they're angelic or not. They can like skydiving or clouds.
- Make them generally confused about a very human invention or social convention. Like a very benevolent E.T.
- They may know other arch angels. They may be minor characters in your story or even their friends. They must also kinda suck at being human
- Involve the church; have a Full-On Miracle. Trumpets of rapture, incomprehensible fire, glowing eyes and a primal fear of God etc.
- (BONUS) add incarnate demons ala Good Omens by Neil Gaiman and Terry Pratchett. Make them snarky, greedy or nice
- Each angel has bonus beats and prompts at the bottom right of their sheet! So check that out for more stuff.

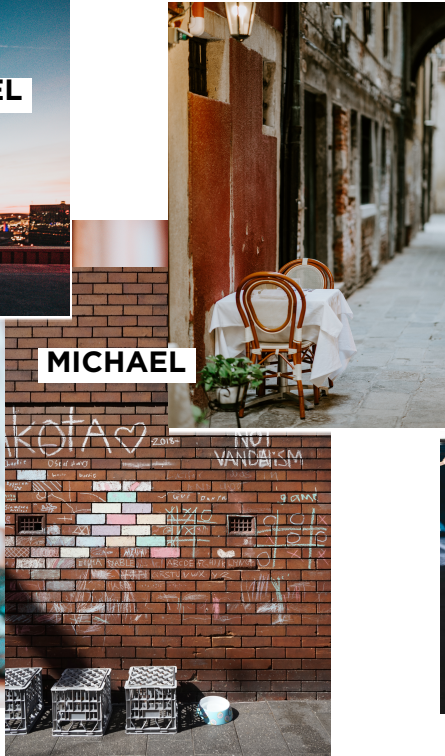

With each question on the playbook, push the story forward, paint a scene, add elements, characterize further, and don't block any other player's ideas. Say yes, and _____. Let the story loop back and dive in and out the themes and the characters you've created. Don't overthink it— plunge fully into the story, —kiss kiss and fall in love!

Note: You may want to use something like the X-card, Lines & Veils, Script Change, etc. for safety in emotionally difficult topics. Use whatever tool is best for your table. Here is a helpful document outlining support tools and their use: <https://bit.ly/2le2g4i>

PLACES TO DATE AND ANGELS THEREIN

Squint at this collage and identify which Arch Angel has been assigned to you. Then proceed..

AA Michael

ANGEL OF POWER

I revel in the breath of a True Leader. A battle worth fighting for, and a cause that ought to be supported. Your strong heart shall by my downfall. I know virtue and I extol it in all your little corporal self.

You have some weird machinations huh. Complications of a Persona.

Fret not, I don't need to understand. I will win your wars for you.

Themes: Might, Warriors

NAME

(Choose) Michael, Michelle, Mika, Mike, Variants of Mikhail, lil M, Thor, A Name that sounds Really Strong and Powerful
