Additional Notes

This map of Jakálla originally appeared as part of Empire of the Petal Throne, published in 1975. It is worth noting that it is done in a “semi-representational” style, i.e. important structures shown on the map appear much larger (and therefore take up more room) than they actually do in a physical and geographic sense. A map key has been provided, having originally appeared as part of the Empire of the Petal Throne rulebook. Also included on this map are The City of the Dead, Tórunal Island, and the northern edge of the village of Kügáshtene. The nearby cities of Pála Jakálla and Músa Jakálla are not shown on this map; the former is north across the mouth of the Mssúma River, and the latter is south along the coast of the Gulf of Perudáya (and is much smaller than either Pála Jakálla or mighty Jakálla itself).

Lastly, the prices shown on the second page of the map key are from the original printing of Empire of the Petal Throne and therefore completely out-of-date (and included only as a historical curiosity).
