The Royal Marine Commandos are technically part of the Army, but have an independent identity. Long, physically and mentally tough, this course has one of the highest dropout rates of any “basic” military branches in the world. The graduation march “yomp” is fifty kilometers.

Option: Rare among the militaries of the worlds, the officers go through the same basic course as the enlisted and then go on to specialized leadership training. Add Leadership 25 (New Total 250/Package 225). Require Advanced Education package.

The feisty Nepalese hillmen have served the British Crown since 1816. They have incredible stamina and a desire to please their commanders that has caused many to call them natural soldiers. The myths and legends about their actions on the battlefield were known to have caused considerable chaos among the ranks of Argentinian conscripts defending the Falklands. The majority of Gurkha serve 20+ years with the British (or Indian army) and then return to their homeland. This package is to represent the British trained Gurkha who has decided to continue a life of adventure outside the service of The Crown.

Notes: Native language is LG-Munda/L-Santali. Average height is about 165cm. I would recommend considering the PC Constitution 20 higher for determining Endurance to represent their high altitude upbringing.
